Scoutmasters Report

Tom Lenagh
Scoutmaster

Scouts, what would you think of a policeman in full uniform except for trousers which were of bright plaid material? How about a hospital intern wearing a sport coat over is white uniform while on duty? Or what would you think of a train conductor wearing a fireman's cap or, even more absurd, an airline pilot wearing the silks of a jockey as he boarded the plane?

They'd all be "out of uniform," wouldn't they? With some of the outfits mentioned, you would not be sure what they really were.

Scouts, we have a uniform, too. We have a full uniform - not just a shirt, but like the people I just mentioned, we have a full uniform. When we don't wear the full uniform, we are just as "out of uniform" as the policeman with the plaid pants.

The Flag Code says that when we are "in uniform" we salute the flag with the Scout salute, but when "out of uniform" we salute by holding our right hand over our heart.

How do you think a Scout should salute the flag if he's without his neckerchief or some other non-official part of the uniform? He's not "in uniform," is he?

HEY SCOUTS – How do you answer these questions?

Just before you go to sleep tonight, check this list:

Did you get up on time? Did you make your bed?

Did you eat a good breakfast? Did you read something interesting?

Did you learn something? Were you polite?

Did you help a friend? Did you do some work around the house?

Did you try to earn some money to help pay for your clothes?

Did you think about your future? Did you read a newspaper or watch a newscast?

Did you brush your teeth? Twice?

Did you tell your parents how much you love them?

Imagine how good you'll feel about yourself, if you can say "Yes" to these questions, today, and every day.

Church Clean-up

Linda Offerdahl
Troop Committee Chair

First of all, another big "thank you" to all who helped at the church. Nadine, the person in charge, stated that they couldn't have done it without us. They were able to move the carpet-laying up to this Monday, which will allow them more time to move things in from the temporary storage unit and not have to pay an extra month's rent.

If you're able to help one last Saturday, we just need a few people early this Saturday morning (8/7), from about 9:00-11:00, to tape some areas prior to John using his paint sprayer to paint the hall. Then that's it! Nadine said they probably won't need help unloading the storage unit since they want to go through things a little more slowly prior to putting them back on shelves. So, thanks again!!

The final word
